“ Tomorrow will be a very tough day I have to come say "see you later Brian." This time I say see you later will be so sad because I know it will be a long time before I see you again. The thought of you not being here is very hard for me to wrap my head around. When I think back there's never been a time you weren't a big part of our lives. Holidays, cook outs, birthday parties, school and vacations you were there. I have truly lost a brother and you will always be in my heart a special part of my heart. I just keep telling myself your happy and at peace. We love you very much and we will see you later!! Kristina Dennis (Scattergood) xoxo
