“ I worked with Jim for a few years at NYSDOT. When I started, he taught me everything I needed to know about the accounting system. He was very knowledgeable and was extremely patient with me. I am sure he will be missed.

“ I've neither seen nor spoken with Jimmy for several decades. We did spend years together at Cathedral Academy where a friendly and happy disposition was his trademark. He was a skilled and competitive athlete, but even on the basketball court he seemed to be smiling more often than not. It would be difficult to find a more likable guy. My sincere condolences to his family, friends, schoolmates. RIP, Jim
