“ One of my first memories of Julie was when my family and I visited New York, Julie welcomed us with open arms and a loving heart. Having not even knowing us yet she made us feel like family right away, and even just a week trip made her one of my favorite aunts. Living in Seattle, it's not as easy to feel as connected with family across the country as I'd like to be but Julie made it easy. Every holiday, birthday, graduation she would send us a card or a little something just showing that she cared and was thinking of us. Julie in a way taught me as a child what is was to be family and to be connected. She showed her love unapologetically and without expectations in return and that's something I will never forget and hopefully do the same. Love you aunt Julie. ❤️
